Live-Stock Men Plan Big Program

Live-stock men who meet at Lincoln during Organized Agriculture are planning a program to interest every breeder and feeder in the state. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Nebraska Improved Live-stock Breeders' Association. One day will be devoted to each cattle, hogs, horses and sheep. In addition to Nebraska breeders, several live-stock men of national reputation will be on the program. The speaking and general discussions will be supplemented with judging contests and demonstrations, boys and girls club demonstrations, and other interesting features. One hundred dollars in prizes will be distributed at the contests, open to everyone attending the meetings. Programs may be obtained from Secretary M. B. Posson, University Farm, Lincoln.

Nebraska's quota in the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal campaign is six seals per person. They sell for one cent each. This is certainly a modest request compared with most of the demands that will be made. The seals were placed on sale December first.

Land owners and renters interested in farm leases may find many good suggestions in a new United States department of agriculture bulletin called "The Farm Lease Contract." Some of the subjects discussed are: the importance of a contract, the principal kinds of lease contracts, points to be considered in a farm lease, problems common to all kinds of leases, some special problems of share leases, and fundamental principles underlying all lease contracts. Ask the College of Agriculture at Lincoln for Farmers' bulletin 1164.

Mrs. James Sherlock, age 57 years, of Emerson, Neb., died Sunday in a Sioux City hospital. She had been receiving treatment for high blood pressure for the past few weeks, and complications set in which resulted in her death. Mrs. Sherlock was born in Lucan, Ontario, Canada, June 8, 1863, and came with her parents, Patrick and Mary Gormally, to this county, settling on a farm near Goodwin, in 1882. She was married to Joseph Sherlock of Emerson precinct, February 2, 1894, and had resided there since. Mrs. Sherlock is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. William Marron, of Emerson; two sisters, Mrs. James Enright, of Sioux City, and Mrs. Michael Hynes, of Ponca, Neb., and three brothers, William Gormally, living west of Sioux City, Patrick Gormally, of Goodwin, Neb., and Thomas Gormally, of Ponca, Neb. Wm. W. Reninger of Norfolk, fattened up our depleted purse with two year's subscription, to The Herald the past week, extending his subscription into 1922. In a postscript to his letter he wondered how Congressman Evans liked the vote he got in Norfolk, and offered to bet 2 to 1 that it suited him better than it did Webb Rice, or a certain would-be politician in this neck of the woods.

The bazaar given by the M. E. Ladies' Aid society in the newly finished basement of the M. E. church on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, was a grand success in every way. Notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads the crowd attending taxed the capacity of the building. Following the supper and auction sale of articles on hand, a program of music, singing and readings was given, which was greatly appreciated by the gathering. The ladies feel well repaid for their efforts, which netted them over $200.

M. M. REAM WRITES OF SUNNY CALIFORNIA.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20, 1920.

Dear Brother:

I just thought I would scratch you a few lines and tell you how I am getting along and what I am doing. If anyone would have told me one year ago that I would be in Los Angeles now working for John D. Rockefeller I would surely have hit him on the nose, but that is just what I am doing. Tomorrow (Saturday) will be the third week I have been working for John D., at $1.00 per hour. I work eight hours every day, and have not lost a day in the three weeks. That is the most I ever earned per day for carpenter work. Mr. Judd commenced the same day I did and he gets the same. We are working on an acid plant that John D. is building at El Segundo, close to the Los Angeles harbor. It is a wonderful plant. There are about 500 men working on it now. The buildings are steel and concrete, and you ought to see the machinery that goes into the buildings. All the tanks are made of lead. The acid is made out of sulphur, and they are now bringing in a train load of sulphur, every few days. They dump it down through the trestle under the railroad tracks. You know sulphur used to sell in Dakota City for 80 cents a pound. Now if I could find a market for it at that price I would scrape up a few hats full of it myself.

We have to drive to the place we work at, about twelve miles; we go in our darling Lizzie Ford, and it only takes us about 25 to 30 minutes to go. You could hardly make that speed on Dakota county roads.

There are no roads here—it is all pavement, and you never saw such nice drives. The paving is just like glass.

You ought to see the truck ranches as they call them here; it is nothing now to see from 10 to 30 acres of lettuce, cauliflower, turnips and carrots. When they get the crop harvested, which they are now doing, they plant again—all hardy vegetables, such as beets, lettuce, cauliflower, onions, carrots and turnips are raised from now on until January; and after that all kinds of vegetables are planted.

What would you think to see a field of beans with thirty-five hundred acres in it? Well, that is what you can see out here.

We haven't seen a sign of frost yet, and don't expect to. The weather now is just the same as it was when we arrived in September. We have had two light rains since we came here. It looks queer to see the snow on the mountains 30 or 40 miles distant while we are working and sweating here in the sunshine.

I planted some peas, radishes and onions, and they are all coming up nice now. All kinds of vegetables and fruits are on the market, just the same as in the middle of the summer.

We were out riding Sunday and we stopped on the roadside at a fruit farm and got 15 pounds of fresh dried prunes for 15 cents per pound. One day we went down to the market and we got a half bushel of sweet potatoes for 50 cents; one bushel of Bell Flower apples for $1.25—the finest you ever saw. Meat and eggs are the only things that are higher here than in Sioux City. I bought 12 hens (White Leghorns) the other day, so I will knock the high price of eggs into a cocked hat.

By the way, I made a mistake in the number of acres in my bean patch—there are thirty-five thousand acres, instead of thirty-five hundred acres—some bean patch.

We are all well, and like it fine here. This beats the world for climate. It is getting late in the evening, so I will close for this time. Give my regards to everybody.

Yours very truly,

M. M. REAM.

Rev. S. A. Draise, Pastor

The special music last Sunday was very delightful, especially to the preacher. It helps him to get away from the feeling that he is the whole show, and then it is especially helpful to the service because the world needs music, and we only have a little time to do our part. This will be a part of the regular service hereafter.

Sunday school passed the one hundred mark last Sunday. Keep it up. The Christmas programs are here and work has already begun. The work is to be put on by twelve men and several women. A wonderfully interesting picture of the first Christmas night. The children's turn will come next year. This will be a live picture of the Bible story. Everybody will want to see it.

Services next Sunday morning—Sunday school at 10 o'clock; preaching at 11 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock. A big welcome for all who attend.
